Church family -

I am excited to tell you about our upcoming marriage retreat. I believe it has the potential to be very helpful for our church family and want you to know that this is for you whether you're considering marriage, newly married or have been married for quite some time. It's for you whether your relationship seems to be going well right now or you've hit some recent rough patches or you're barely keeping your head above water as a couple. It's for you whether you attended our last marriage retreat or not. Join us at Cherry Hills on Friday & Saturday February 27 & 28 as we host "Journeying Together", a two-day marriage retreat facilitated by Cameron Walker. We hope it will provide you with a number of valuable tools.

I met Cameron eight years ago and was privileged to sit under his teaching and work alongside him as a colleague and a coach. He holds a Master of Arts in Clinical Mental Health Counseling from Richmond University and currently serves as the Pastor of Staff Development at Grace Church in Snellville, GA.. This year's retreat includes topics such as conflict resolution, communication, covenant relationship and intimacy. It's our hope that you will walk away with tangible and practical resources that help to foster relational and emotional health in your relationship with your spouse.

Cost for the retreat is $20, and includes snacks, a light breakfast and lunch on Saturday in addition to some other fun surprises. While we are unable to offer childcare for this event, scholarships are available to help cover the cost of babysitters as well as the retreat cost. We also have a list of babysitters if needed.

To register scan the qr code or text "marriage" to 217.546.4818.
